ADDITIONAL APPLICATION DESCRIPTIONS

After certification you will be able to deliver a seminar on these topics

True Communication—Everyone agrees that communication is a key factor for success in any environment where two or more people are interacting. True Colors can be used as a guide to the choice of words and presentation techniques that will help to make the communication process easier and more effective. Individuals can be trained to speak and respond in ways which best fit the needs of each of the personality types being addressed. In True Communication you will learn how to improve their personal performance through effective communication.

True Core Leadership—Learning about essential leadership qualities, exploring the differences between management and leadership, and discovering the role of relationships on leadership are just a few of the key elements of this program. Participants will determine their own “core” leadership style, how they can adjust or improve their leadership behaviors and address areas of needed improvement.

Keys to Effective Teambuilding—This interactive seminar is customized to the needs of your team. Whether existing or newly formed, team members learn how to bring out the best in each other, how each member’s primary color – and a representation of all colors – is important to the team’s success, and how to bring up your paler colors for the benefit of the team’s goals.

True Solutions to Managing Conflict—The subject of Conflict Management is diverse and complex. Designed by professional mediators, this seminar just touches the surface of the intricacies, but applying True Colors gives the participants skills to use in deflecting conflict, handling it as it moves through stages of intensity, and recognizing signs of potential problems with concrete steps to take.

True Colors Change Management—The True Colors Change Management Certification will teach you how to help organizations navigate through change using True Colors. It will teach you about the four phases of change and how our colors respond or react to them. Navigating through Change is the norm in today’s business environment. Today’s Leaders need to master the art of helping others succeed.
